MANAMA

Dear all,

I'm a professional, task-oriented person, striving to achieve excellence. I'm driven to succeed in any role I take, and I know I have what it takes to stand out and be an asset to where I belong. I'm a people's person in the first place, I have a wide experience dealing with people in different roles and aspects in life. Having worked in sales, public relations, teaching, hospitality, real estate, HR, marketing, and media all of these have refined me in knowing what people want and what I want to achieve , and also, helped me acquiring many skills many people don't have. Therefore, it is a WIN/WIN situation for me and for the organization I work for.
