

Hello and good day!

I hope this letter finds you healthy. I am Ninna Cochon, a Math teacher currently residing in Bahrain, and I am writing to apply for a teaching position at your school for this academic year, 2022-2023.

I have a bachelor's degree in Secondary Education major in Mathematics, passed the professional teacher's licensure examination in the Philippines, and have had 7 years of experience in being an elementary school Math teacher. I am a resilient teacher, a life-long learner, and eager to listen to my students' thoughts and ideas. I am skilled in the art of questioning, lesson planning, and creating a safe learning environment.

I have been teaching here in Bahrain for 6 years but would like a chance to grow further and contribute more to the lives of my students and colleagues. I believe that a new work environment would be needed for these goals and I am excited to see whether I would find myself becoming a part of your school starting this academic year.

I am reachable through this email address: ninna_cochon@dlsu.edu.ph

Or, if you prefer, in WhatsApp through this number: 36599905.

I so look forward to hearing from you! Please stay safe and well.

Sincerely,

Ninna Joy Cochon
