

Dear HR Department,

my name is Imad ALCASIM. I am originally from Syria and currently reside in Turkey, where I hold Turkish citizenship. I graduated from a Turkish state university with a degree in Food Engineering, achieving the top rank in my department and second rank in the Faculty of Engineering.

I am currently writing my master's thesis. I consider myself a quick learner, intelligent, and capable of handling both physical and psychological work pressure.

During my time at university, I worked part-time in the college laboratories from my first year until graduation. This was necessary as I had no financial support and lived alone in Turkey, requiring me to balance both studying and working. This experience has greatly enhanced my knowledge, skills, and personal development.

I achieved great results in university even though I studied in a language that is not my mother tongue.

Best regards.

İmad ALCASIM
