Dear Hiring Manager,

With over eight years of experience as a Senior Fullstack Developer, I have built a strong track record of delivering scalable, high-impact software solutions across the Middle East, Australia, and Europe. My background spans modernising legacy systems, architecting cloud-native applications, and leading development teams to deliver secure, high-performance platforms that drive measurable business results.

In my recent roles, I successfully migrated legacy systems to Azure, reducing infrastructure costs by 30% while improving uptime and operational efficiency. I also implemented CI/CD pipelines using Azure DevOps, cutting deployment times from hours to minutes and significantly enhancing release reliability. My experience extends across .NET, ASP.NET Core, Angular, React, Azure, and serverless technologies, enabling me to build robust, user-centric applications for diverse industries including HR & Payroll, ERP, e-commerce, and real estate.

Beyond technical expertise, I bring strong leadership capabilities—mentoring junior developers, conducting code reviews, and collaborating closely with cross-functional teams to ensure alignment between business goals and technical execution. I thrive in environments that value innovation, clean code, and continuous improvement.

I am currently based in Bahrain and eager to contribute my fullstack and cloud engineering expertise to a forward-thinking organisation. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my experience and technical strengths can support your team's goals.

Sincerely,

Anjana Wijesooriya
