

Good day

It is my pleasure and honor to apply for the requested job hoping that I am meeting the job requirements.

One of my most important skills is to listen, understand and hence guide for better relations and better benefits in my work area.

I have a long experience in engineering and management/relations environment, I have been working, learning, gaining experience and guiding and directing. During this time, I have been involved and doing myself installations, maintenance, managing a team of engineers and other jobs in accounting , warehousing, sales and purchasing for machines and testing machines.

I am goal oriented besides being practical most of the time while keeping very good relations among the team and customers through very quiet listening and approaching positive progress output.

While I hope there is a chance to join your organization, please check my CV .

Kind Regards
